Dashboard Supports Linux Widgets

With this release, Patch Management now supports Linux widgets on the Dashboard. You can choose from the 4 out-of-the-box or customize the widgets.

The old widgets showed only the Windows data. You must delete the old widgets and re-import them to add the correct name to the widget titles. After you delete and re-import the widgets, the new widget titles contain Windows to differentiate between the Linux and Windows widgets.

Issue Addressed

- We fixed an issue where the job status changed to Preparing even though the job was completed.
